GONSULAR PROCESS

How to Apply for an Employment-based U.S. Visa?

Receive USCIS Petition Approval

Before a foreign worker can apply for a work visa stamp (such as H-1B, L-1, O-1), USCIS must first have approved the work visa petition on behalf of the employee.

USCIS sends the petition approval to the U.S. consular post abroad.

Complete DS-160 (Online Visa Application)

- Log into the DS-160 at CEAC.state.gov/genniv/
- Complete all sections accurately & consistently with the petition.
- Save frequently as the system times out.
- Sign & submit the application. Receive & save DS-160 Confirmation!

*If you're a client who paid for our consular service DO NOT submit DS-160 until we review it and give you feedback.

Pay Visa Fee & Schedule Appointments

- Check the estimated wait times for a visa appt by location. See here. (Biometric appt might also be required).
- Login to the scheduling system to pay the fee & make an appt.
- Depending on country use: ustraveldocs.com or ais.usvisa-info.com
- Save appt confirmation and fee receipt!

Gather Documents

DS-160 Confirmation

3

•

- Original current Passport
- One recent photo (see guidelines)

PETITION

- Appointment Confirmation or Interview Waiver Confirmation
- MRV Fee Receipt

5

*Documents for the appointment will vary depending on visa type

- Copy of I-797 Approval Notice
- Employment verification letter
- Recent pay stubs
- Dependents' info, if applicable

Go to Consulate Appointment

Depending on the consulate and your case, you will need to:

- attend in-person consulate interview appt, or
- if eligible, mail in your application

Receive Visa Decision

Check your visa status HERE

- Approved
- Refusal* / Administrative processing
- Denied

If approved – receive your passport with the new visa stamp generally within 1-2 weeks, either pick up or by mail

* This does not mean that the application has a final refusal. Monitor the page for updates.

*Disclaimer: This material is not intended to substitute as legal advice.

Giselle Carson, Esq. | Corporate Immigration and Compliance marksgray.com | immigrationgroup@marksgray.com

